LOUISVILLE NATIONAL COLLEGE FAIR HIGHLIGHTS COLLEGE OPTIONS AT THE KENTUCKY INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION CENTER

LOUISVILLE, KY (October 26, 2015) – For most high school students, navigating college choices can be a difficult task that requires a lot of thought and research. Students looking to get a head start on the college search can attend the Louisville National College Fair on Sunday, Nov. 1 at the Kentucky International Convention Center. This free event brings more than 150 colleges from across the country together in one location to give students information about college choices.

The college fair will be held in Exhibit Hall 1AB from 2:00 – 5:00 p.m. and allow students and parents to meet one-on-one with admission representatives from a wide range of colleges and universities. Seminars will feature tips on how to navigate the college selection process, admission requirements, financial aid, course offerings and campus life. Students and parents will also be able to meet with college experts at the fair's counseling center.

Sponsored by the National Association for College Admission Counseling, the National College Fair program hosts events across the country and helps more than 675,000 students annually explore their options for higher education.
